

Wave Bash 2011 attracts surfers from around the world

Photo by Mureen Walker

Expert division second place winner Josh Stone packs it in after the final heat on Friday, June 17.

Photo by Matthew Smith

Surf boards and sails line the shores of Pistol River during the first day of competition.

Photo by Matthew Smith

Windsurfers take to the waves during the first day of competition on Thursday, June 16.

Photo by Mureen Walker

Expert division winner Nathan Mershon after the final heat.

Photo by Matthew Smith

Competitors in the women's division face off during day one.

Photo by Gordon Clay

Over 60 of the competitors from the Wave Bash showed up on Sunday for friendly competition and showed their support of clean oceans by participating in Hands Across the Sand. The official event will take place on June 25, for more info visit www.HandsAcrossTheSand.org.

Photo by Matthew Smith

A surfer waits for a wave, while another catches big air.